Preparation for the Term I Exams, Distribution of Answer Papers, Remedial Coaching

Teachers,

As per our schedule, Term I exams start on 3rd October.

As it was discussed and decided in the previous staff meeting, the whole portions for the term shall be completed at least 7 working days before and effective revision must be held.

It is hereby reminded and reiterated that revision is not the repetition of the portions, instead, it is for familiarizing the model questions with the students and to work out on such model questions.

We have an almost perfect pattern of asking questions and preparing question papers after the model of NEP 2020. But some of our existing students as well as many of the new students are not yet attuned to this mode of asking questions. So, give special attention to such students and make others competent enough to answer such questions. A lot of model questions shall be worked out during regular class hours along with teaching especially during the revision times.

As we have already avoided the pattern rote learning, direct questions in the QP shall be minimized to its maximum.

QP shall be submitted to the exam committee on or before 27th September.

Valued answer papers should be distributed within 5 working days from the last exam.

Next three working days shall mandatorily be allotted by each teacher for individual Remedial Coaching, in which all merits and demerits of all answers of each student shall be discussed individually, ask them to rectify the answers and methods for improvement shall be advised.

Teachers must monitor constantly that such students improve step by step.
